Abstract (en)

[origin: EP0340190A1] A back-support arrangement (5) which can freely be placed on a sitting or lying surface (4), e.g. on a piece of furniture (2), comprises for example a triangular-shaped part with an underpart (6) which is arranged to be in contact with the surface (4), and having upwardly-extending side surfaces (12,13) of which the forwardly-facing surface (12) slopes backwards, and where the support surface (6) wholly or partly comprises a material with relatively great friction against the surface (4). A cushion (8) is placed in front of the back-support arrangement (5), and the back of said cushion can be secured to the back-support arrangement, e.g. with a separable securing element such as a zip fastener or the like.
