Abstract (en)

A vegetation-faced traffic noise barrier comprises a support structure consisting of spaced vertical posts (1) anchored to the ground and spaced beams (3) extending horizontally between the posts. Sound-absorbing panels (9) are mounted between said posts and beams, and at least on the traffic-facing side of the barrier the support structure carries, spaced therefrom, a netting (6) for supporting growing plants (7); said netting may slope out from the top of the barrier. The sound-absorbing panels (9) consist of sound-absorbing plates (10) wrapped in accoustically open film and sandwiched between a supporting netting and an impervious corrugated backing sheet.
