Abstract (en)

[origin: EP0350456A2] A scrubbing brush (1) is fitted to a supporting plate (2) above which the long handle is fitted by means of a coupling sleeve (3). The handle is adjustable for position by engaging lever (3b) in different recesses (2b). The brush (1) itself has a particular structure with numerous blades (1a, 1b) turned downwards and arranged in two directions, either longitudinal or transverse to the brush main axis. Thus the brush (1) functions efficiently regardless of whether it is used with alternating movements parallel or orthoganal to its longitudinal axis.
