Abstract (en)
[origin: EP0353582A1] A handle for a piece of furniture, for example in a front piece (12) of a chest of drawers formed by plastic profiles, is formed by a panel (14), a rear part (16) at least partially covered by the panel, a handle recess (20) moulded into the panel, and a handle part (18) projecting partially over the handle recess. According to the invention, a simplified manufacture without impairing the appearance is achieved by the fact that the handle part (18) is constructed integrally with the panel (14), that the panel (14) is open towards the rear part (16) in the region of the handle recess (20) covered by the handle part (18), and that the rear part forms a section (22, 24) of the handle recess fitted into the opening of the panel. <IMAGE>
