Abstract (en)

[origin: EP0356637A1] A sports shoe, in particular a football boot, with an outsole (2) made of elastically flexible material and with studs which are formed directly on the outsole and the lower part (4) of which is in one piece with the outsole (2), and in which, between the lower part (4) and the outsole (2), an elastically pressure-deformable annular member (6) is arranged. The lower part (4) is only connected to the outsole (2) via a thin connecting shaft (5) so that, in spite of the use of a relatively wear-resistant and thus hard sole material, the flexibility of the annular member (6) can have its effect (Fig. 2). <IMAGE>
