Abstract (en)
A platform, particularly for use as a builder's or decorator's staging comprises support elements (2) formed of expanded polystyrene which rest on the floor without damaging the floor. Extending between the support elements(2) there are horizontal support members(5) in the form of vertical or 'on edge' planks, on which rest further horizontal planks (6) which support plywood or chipboard panels (8) which form the stage. The lower edges of the vertical or "on edge" planks(5) are received in grooves(4) formed in the support elements(2).
