Abstract (en)
[origin: WO8808160A1] A method and apparatus are described for generating prose text which is specific to a particular application. The method features the steps of inputting a text stream (14) containing at least one fixed prose phrase (16) and at least one directed prose expression (16a), and parsing the text stream (14) for copying each fixed prose phrase (16) and for replacing each directed prose expression (16a) with a prose construction (20) by referencing a data base (22). The method further includes the step of generating a prose output (28) by combining each fixed prose phrase (16) and prose construction (20) to form a stream of prose text.
