Abstract (en)
[origin: EP0369948A1] Packaging, especially for pastries, comprising a base element (1), which can serve as a container and as a support-display unit, and a cover element (5) which is entirely separable from the base element. These two elements are connected to one another by joining means (8) forming a hinge. When the pastries, or the pie, displayed on the base element (1) have to be packaged for transport, it suffices to assemble the cover with the base element with the aid of the joining means (8) and to close the cover by folding it over the base. Closing means (12) for the box are also provided. <IMAGE>
