Abstract (en)

The scraping device is constituted by a flat spatula 6 with a front edge 7, eventually provided with a fold 8. The piece 6 is united with an annular body 5 adaptable to the connector of the head 2 supporting a mop 1. The semirigidity of the spatula 6 and the fold 8 provided by the material permits that they do their work without excessive deformation when the head of the cleaning tool is applied to a surface to be scraped.
