Abstract (en)
[origin: EP0378065A2] In order to place a connector (1) on a part (20) of a case, a rectangular recess (21), which is open to one side, is provided in the part (20) of the case. The connector (1) has a base part (3, 3'), inserted in the recess (21), which has a square cross-section. The edges (23, 24, 28) of the recess (21) in the part (20) of the case are provided internally on the base part (3, 3') with ribs (13, 13') which project from the base part (3, 3') on all sides and engage underneath, and a flange (14), which rests externally on the part (20) of the case and projects laterally, is provided on the connector (1) itself. <IMAGE>
