Abstract (en)

[origin: EP0382917A1] The bathroom accessories shelf consists of a holding element (1), provided with attachment devices, and of a resting element (2) which is plugged onto the holding element (1) and is connected to the latter by means of at least one bolt (14). In order to achieve a firm, non-shaking, but easily detachable seat of the resting element (2) on the holding element (1) using simple means, the at least one bolt (14) is mounted and radially supported by its two end regions (15,16) in the same component (resting element 2) and with its central region (18), situated between the end regions (15,16), in the other component (holding element 1). <IMAGE>
