Abstract (en)
[origin: EP0389850A1] The foldable display stand support has a foot with a front wall (1), a rear wall (3) and two side walls (2), in which a longitudinal folding line (4) extends centrally in each case, a bottom area (6) being linked to the front wall (1), which bottom area can be folded over the surface of the foot and which can be anchored by its rear end on the foot in this opened-out position of the display stand support. Furthermore, it has an upward extension (7) of the rear wall (3) of the foot, which extension, together with the bottom area (6) and, if appropriate, with extensions of the side walls (2), forms a receiving space for goods, it being possible for the display stand support to be folded flat. Linked to the rear wall (3) and to the side walls (2) of the foot in each case are a right and a left support tab (10, 11) which project into the foot in the opened-out state of the display stand support, and onto which a tab (16) with slots, which is linked to the rear edge (15) of the bottom area (6) can be pushed. <IMAGE>
