Abstract (en)

[origin: EP0390952A1] A self-adhesive label is described, with a backing foil (2) which is coated on its rear side with adhesive and has at least one hanging-up tab (3, 3'). In order to produce an economically manufacturable, highly-loadable self-adhesive label with a hanging-up tab, it is envisaged that the hanging-up tab (3, 3') consists of a punching of the backing foil (2), which is extensively surrounded by the backing foil (2), remains connected thereto at at least one point (4, 4') and can be pivoted out of the surface of the backing foil (2), and that the rear side of the hanging-up tab (3, 3') is designed to be non-adhesive over at least its greater part. <IMAGE>
