Abstract (en)

[origin: EP0395370A1] A method of packaging objects utilises joining together of two or more preformed continuous, heat shrinkable, plastics sleeves (11) along longitudinal edges to form a continuous tubular structure (18) having multiple compartments thereto. Objects (23, 24) to be packaged are introduced into the compartments (19, 21) and the structure (18) shrunk into contact with the objects (23, 24) by the application of heat.
