Abstract (en)

[origin: EP0397065A1] Game comprising a playing area and sets of pieces capable of being displaced over the area. The area is defined by a board (10) carrying networks of grooves (18, 20, 22). The pieces (24, 26, 28) of different types are each formed from a disc and a rod engaged in the network. The shape and the size of the rods and of the networks are chosen so that the pieces of each type can be displaced only according to the move defined by the rule of the game. The game makes it possible to simplify the learning of the rules of the game. <IMAGE>
