Abstract (en)

[origin: EP0405115A1] The latch opener (10) for knitting machines, which has a flat brush (11/12) mounted pivotably about an axis (17) extending perpendicularly to its direction of movement, is coupled individually or severally to a control member (20') for its positive adjustment into a pivoting position. The control member can be a trailing drag slide (20'). The bristle filling (12) of the positively pivotable flat brushes (11/12) can have a bristle length decreasing towards the brush ends. <IMAGE>
