Abstract (en)
[origin: EP0415058A2] The shower cubicle according to the invention has at least one load-bearing corner column with a triangular cross-section, whose outsides form part of the outer surface of the shower cubicle and on which its side walls are attached in alignment. The corner column or corner columns is or are fitted with taps, plumbing fixtures and wet and/or dry storage spaces for accommodating shower and bathroom utensils which are preferably accessible from the inside and/or outside and can optionally be covered by a splash guard. <IMAGE>
