Abstract (en)
[origin: WO8805269A1] Disposable absorbent article such as a diaper, a sanitary napkin, an incontinence protection garment, a wound dressing or the like comprising a liquid tight surface layer (2) and a liquid permeable surface layer (4) encasing an absorbent core (5) therebetween. The distinguishing feature of the inventive article is that the liquid permeable layer (4) is composed of at least two separate material webs (3, 4) made of identical or different materials, and that said two material webs are joined together by means of a relatively open bonding pattern.
