Abstract (en)
[origin: US5031319A] A wet razor having a handle, at the front end of which a razor blade unit is disposed on a razor head, is provided. The handle has a central longitudinal plane that, starting from the razor head, has an essentially S-shaped curved configuration. The rear end of the handle is provided with a tongue-like widened portion. To improve the ergonomic properties of the razor, on the longitudinal underside of the handle 1 the tongue-like widened portion has a flattened portion.
