Abstract (en)
[origin: EP0423075A2] The mounting means possesses a bracket (1) comprising, for its fixation to a building wall (12), two longitudinal slots (2), into each of which an eccentric disc (13) engages. On turning the eccentric discs (13) in each case about a pin (3), the bracket (1) is adjusted upwards. Lateral displacement of the bracket and also downward-adjustment of the installation block (6) are possible independently thereof. <IMAGE>
