Abstract (en)

[origin: EP0427010A1] A strip fastener, preferably made of plastic, is used for closing bags. It consists of a male profile (1) and a female profile (2, 5, 6) which are connected in each case by a film (3, 4) and can be connected to one another detachably. In order that such a strip fastener can be closed easily with simple and cost-effective manufacture, at least two spaced-apart continuous knobs (8) are provided on the side of the film (3) facing away from the male profile (1). <IMAGE>
