Abstract (en)

[origin: EP0433228A1] The fabric web (2) is first guided through a nozzle compartment (17), in which various treatment media are applied under pressure via a nozzle arrangement (21a, 21b and 23a, 23b). The fabric web subsequently passes into a dipping compartment (13) of a design known per se, having individual dipping chambers (12) which are fed with washing liquor in counterflow. The washing liquor and the vapour from the dipping compartment (13) are used at least partially as treatment media in the nozzle compartment (17). <IMAGE>
