Abstract (en)

[origin: WO9103189A1] In a furniture unit with horizontally sliding built-in units (3, 4) for installation in a corner of a room, assembly is simplified, adaptability to a wide variety of arrangements and the likelihood of tipping and jamming is reduced in that the storage components (14) are suspended on one side on flat sliding frames (80, 120; 12). The storage components (14) are inserted only after the unit, consisting substantially of flat components, has been pre-assembled. The sliding frames slide longitudinally on guide frames (70, 90; 7) which are also flat. The guide frame (90) of the outer built-in unit (4) can be pivoted about a vertical axis (100). The guide frame (70) of the inner built-in unit is arranged vertically at the rear of the basic unit and secured to the floor by supporting feet (73) and via movable supporting arms (75) to the side walls.
