Abstract (en)

An ink cartridge adapted to be loaded detachably to an ink jet recording apparatus for preforming a recording on a recording medium by discharging ink comprises an ink tank for accommodating ink therein, leading-out means for leading out ink within said ink tank to the outside, said leading-out means being provided on said ink tank, and a frame for supporting displaceably said ink tank on which said leading-out means is provided. Also, an ink jet recording apparatus for preforming a recording on a recording medium (1) comprises a recording head (38) for discharging ink from a discharge port to carry out the recording on the recording medium (1), a loading part for loading therein an ink cartridge, said loading part having an ink tank for accommodating ink therein, leading-out means for leading out ink within said ink tank to the outside, said leading-out means being provided on said ink tank and a frame for supporting displaceably said ink tank on which said leading-out means is provided, and ink supplying means (G) for supplying ink to said recording head (38) by coupling to the lead-out means of said ink cartridge which is loaded in said loading part. <IMAGE> <IMAGE>
