Abstract (en)

[origin: EP0443382A1] In a filter centrifuge, in which a base layer (19) composed of solids has built up on the filter element (8) after single or repeated discharge of the solid cake by means of a scraper knife (15) and a discharge device, this base layer (19) is to be removed by first impregnating and flooding it with a saturating amount of liquid and then by sharply braking the drum (3) of the filter centrifuge from a relatively high speed of rotation. <IMAGE>
