Abstract (en)

[origin: EP0451617A1] The supporting-hook (25) for scaffolding platforms has a fastening part (50), for example in the form of an insertion stub, and a support part (65) having a downwardly open suspension mouth (70). It is designed as a section of a light-metal extruded profile having a framework-like wall and strut construction, and also as a supporting structure having advantageous nodes and force-transmitting regions. <IMAGE>
