Abstract (en)
[origin: EP0459290A2] Here a conveyor means (1) for suspended conveying of items (5,6), particularly of bobbins (6), is described which contains a carrier (2,2'), on which at least one of the items has to be detachably arranged. In order to simplify such a conveying means (1) and to make it more cost-efficient, it is suggested that item (5) be detachably connected to the carrier (2) via a latching part (8) which can be accommodated in an opening (7). <IMAGE>
