Abstract (en)
[origin: WO9112596A1] A trolley has a coin lock and a key for locking trolleys in a parking queue to each other or for releasing the trolley at the end of the column when a deposit coin is inserted in the coin lock. The coin lock locks the deposit coin when the trolley is released. To release the trolley, the deposit coin in the coin lock executes a movement in the direction of its axis of rotation.
