Abstract (en)
[origin: EP0476232A2] A packaging container is provided, whose manufacturing materials, preferably solely paper and plastic, can be separated from one another for disposal of the container. For this purpose, the sleeve-type main part of the body consists of a paper winding and a web of plastic which is neutral in relation to the contents, is connected to the inside of the paper winding and has such strength that the paper web can be removed from the paper winding during disposal. <IMAGE>
