Abstract (en)
[origin: CA2055625A1] A clothes arm for hanging up articles of clothing comprises several telescopically inter-engaging, hollow arm elements, which can be telescopically retracted in space-saving manner when not in use. Clothes hooks are affixed to the arm elements. In order that the clothes hooks do not limit the telescopic retraction of the clothes arm, the arm elements have longitudinal recesses which accommodate a shank of each clothes hook that is located on the distal side of each respective recess.
