Abstract (en)

A quick-fit device for hanging flexible screens comprises a hollow metal support beam (1) of quadrangular cross-section, a plurality of double hooks (2) made from metal rod which are fitted on the metal support beam (1) and are shaped for form-coupling with the upper face and the two side faces of the beams. Spacing and retaining means (3, 23) are provided for spacing each pair of adjacent double hooks (2) and preventing an upward displacement of each double hook (2) with respect to the supporting beam (1). <IMAGE>
