Abstract (en)

An element for fastening the supporting plane, formed either as a bedspring (10) or as a plurality of staves (42), to a chair-bed or sofa-bed frame, comprises a first portion (16,44) suitable to be connected with said bedspring (10) or stave (42) and a second portion (18), integral with said first portion (16,44), suited to partially surround and to be applied to the tubular section (12) of which the chair-bed or sofa-bed frame is made. The second portion is internally provided with means (30,32) for its securing to said section (12) suitable to be introduced into a hollow (36) of the section (12) and to snap-fit with the edges thereof. <IMAGE>
