Abstract (en)
[origin: EP0489639A1] Composite product based on fibres of various origins and on a dry binder, and process for its preparation. The product of the invention is intended to be subsequently shaped by reactivation of the binder. It consists of fibres originating from a continuous web of inorganic fibres and of unbound fibres of various origins. The invention also relates to the process and the device which allow the original composite web to be prepared.
