Abstract (en)
[origin: EP0504587A2] The invention relates to a device for fixing a sanitary unit (1), in particular of a WC, urinal or bidet, provided with at least two mounting orifices (10). To permit secure and permanent mounting of the sanitary unit (1) without damage occurring to the sanitary unit (1) as a result of the tightening torques exerted during mounting, a holding block (4) fixed to the floor or wall close to the respective mounting orifice (10) inside the sanitary unit (1) and bearing with a base (6) on the floor or wall possesses, in close proximity to one another, a multiplicity of bores (9) orientated in the direction of the mounting orifice (10) and inclined relative to the base (6), and a receptacle (13), inserted from outside into the mounting orifice (10), for the head (12) of a rod-shaped connecting part, in particular a screw (11), the other end of which engages in one of the bores (9). <IMAGE>
