Abstract (en)
[origin: WO9110985A1] The invention relates to an arrangement for temporarily fixating the position of a flexible strip (17) which is carried by and guided in a holder (10) and which is intended to be provided with, or has been provided with information, and which holder presents mutually opposing, strip-guiding slots (16) through which the strip passes, wherein the space between the slots forms a window-part in which information can be presented and which includes a strip support or slide surface (15). The invention is mainly characterized in that the strip (17) is provided along its length and/or width with holes or recesses (20, 30; 42, 52) which are intended to coact with one or more pins (21, 31; 41, 51; 61).
