Abstract (en)

A plastic holder (1), which serves to hold bottles at the neck side, comprises one or more flanges (4) directed downward from a top limit (3) and forming at least one compartment for taking at least one bottle neck. Opposite each other on the inside of each compartment near the free edges of the bottles are holding elements (5) which can grip directly below a thickened neck part on the top side of a bottle neck, in order to hold it in position. Each compartment can be provided with an opening (9) bounded by flange edges, through which a bottle (2) can be inserted laterally. Connecting parts can be provided between different compartments. Supporting faces (4, 8) and positioning edges (12) can be provided on the holder for interlinked stacking of several holders. For purposes of stacking holders containing bottles, thickened parts (12, 13, 14) can be provided on the top side of the holder. <IMAGE>
