Abstract (en)

[origin: EP0524324A1] A method for applying and injecting colourants (dyes, inks) onto or into a substrate (10) provides for the substrate (10) to be charged electrostatically before the transfer of the colourants in such a way that the two sides (70, 71) of the substrate (10) are charged to a potential which is different from that of ground potential. A device suitable for this is also described. <IMAGE>
