Abstract (en)
[origin: EP0526683A1] Any number of identical collecting containers (2 to 8) for waste, laundry and the like are interlocked in a releasable fashion to form a linear array of containers. The containers (2 to 8) consist in each case of two lateral wall parts (10, 12, 14, 16, 24) and struts (26, 28, 30, 32) connecting the latter together, the wall parts (12, 14, 16), except for the outermost wall parts (10, 24), each being common to two containers (2 to 8). Plastic bags (18) can be suspended in the containers. Furthermore, they can have lift-up lids (20). For the reception and tying up in bundles of used paper and the like, the container (8) in question can have a tying apparatus (42 to 50). <IMAGE>
