Abstract (en)
[origin: EP0529613A1] An ornamental ball fountain is described having a base part (16) which has a ball bed (32). In the ball bed (32), a ball (18) is mounted. A pump serves to convey a fluid between the ball bed (32) and the ball (18), the ball bed (32) being constructed with a central fluid inlet (30). The fluid inlet (30) is constructed with openings (36) which are directed obliquely towards the ball (18) mounted in the ball bed (32) and, for this purpose, are obliquely oriented towards the axial longitudinal direction in the same direction at the same angle. <IMAGE>
