Abstract (en)

[origin: EP0531240A1] Device of the type comprising a piece (7) in the form of a cup fastened onto the cloth (8) and whose opening faces the free end of the rib (5) so as to permit the engagement of the latter. According to the invention, the cup (7) is produced from synthetic material and is associated with a fabric strip (12) which is securely attached thereto and which extends longitudinally with respect to it, this strip (12) serving for the fastening, by means of stitching, onto the cloth article (8). Application to the equipping of umbrellas (parasols). <IMAGE>
