Abstract (en)
The device consists of a motor section (2) with a rotating gear shaft (2a) and a cylindrical platform (3) which can be coupled and fixed to said gear shaft (2a) and a number of clips (4) to hold the strands of hair, which are arranged equidistant around the circumference of said rotating platform (3). These clips (4) are moved by rotation on their own axes, that is, on their spindles (5), by a system of transmission (13-14-15) which is powered by the gear shaft (2a) of the motor section (2). In this way, the strands of hair held by the clips (4), with the rotation of the gear shaft (2a) are twisted in two directions, first around the platform (3) and secondly around the axis of the spindles (5) of the clips (4). <IMAGE>
