Abstract (en)
[origin: EP0543583A1] A temporary floor or a kit of parts therefor comprises a plurality of similar rectangular panels (10), each panel having a lower surface around the edges of which are affixed a number of downwards facing buttons (16) and laterally projecting tabs (18). The tabs (18) have holes (26) therein capable of being engaged by the buttons (16) and the arrangement of tabs (18) and buttons (16) is such that when the panels (10) are assembled edge-to-edge to form part of the temporary floor, the buttons (16) of one panel engage the holes (26) in the tabs (18) of adjacent panels to prevent relative lateral movement of the adjacent panels (10). The panels (10) are preferably square but half panels (12) and edge units (36,37,46,47) may be included to complete the temporary floor. <IMAGE>
