Abstract (en)
[origin: EP0545039A1] The invention relates to a display device with a housing (1), which has a rectangular frame and in which is provided a support sheet (6) for receiving placards (7) for alternating display, the front part of the housing (1) being closable by means of a door (10) or the like which has a viewing pane (9) or the like. In order to improve a device of the generic type in a manner such that its overall handling is greatly simplified and can be carried out in a shortened time, it is proposed, according to the invention, that one or more mounts (11) be attached to the upper leg (2) or one of the lateral legs (4,5) of the frame, in which mount or mounts at least one tension roller (16) is rotatably mounted, bearing with its circumferential surface on the edge region of the support sheet (6) assigned thereto and, optionally, of a placard (7) located thereon. <IMAGE>
