Abstract (en)

[origin: EP0548769A1] The foodstuffs, such as, for example, salt sticks, supplied as bulk material (1) are weighed into part quantities corresponding to a portion, and the part quantities are directed by fall pipes (3-9) and bundled together upright. Selected part quantities, which together correspond to the desired weight of a portion, are then combined to form an upright portion (18) and are ready to be packaged upright. <IMAGE>
