Abstract (en)

[origin: EP0553836A1] A drawer guide is specified, in which guide rods (1), arranged with spacing at the sides of the drawer, are guided through running gear units (2) which are attached as tubular sections (3) to a chest of drawers. The running gear units (2) are arranged in each case at the ends of the tubular sections and have a plurality of ball bearings distributed over the circumference. This drawer guide allows the drawer to be guided on all sides in order, in particular for large drawer widths, to avoid tilting of the drawers in the guides. <IMAGE>
