Abstract (en)
An item of office equipment adapted to operate on sheets of paper comprises an integrally formed main body (1), a first component (5) mounted upon a first portion (2) of the main body and a second component (17) mounted upon a second portion (3) of the main body. The main body (1) forms a hinged connection (4) between the first and second components such that these components are normally held in opposed, spaced apart relationship but are movable towards each other so as to cooperate with each other when the item of equipment is being used. <IMAGE>
