Abstract (en)

[origin: EP0562902A1] This structure is made up of prefabricated elements which are assembled on site so as to form panels (2) and against which a leakproof internal covering (3) is subsequently attached. It is characterised in that each panel (2) consists of two end profiles (4, 4A) which are arranged vertically with respect to the ground (26) and comprise engagement parts (5, 5A) arranged facing each other, and defining vertical grooves capable of receiving the free ends (6, 6A) of horizontal profile elements (7, 7A, 7B) which can be stacked vertically one upon the other in such a manner as to make them self-supporting. <IMAGE>
