Abstract (en)
[origin: WO9213609A1] On a front section, an Alpine pair ski has a greatly increased width, and the lower edges (3a') of the sides (3a) are gradually raised on this section so that they diverge upwards in relation to each of two imaginary, straight, parallel lines (2) which constitute extensions of the lower edges (3') of the sides (3) of the rest of the main body.
