Abstract (en)
[origin: EP0575812A1] A carrying handle device has a carrying handle (48) which is mounted with pivoting movement on a holding body (10) provided for the attachment to a container. The ends of the carrying handle (48) engage in a groove (16) which is open towards the container. The carrying handle (48) is supported in an approximately horizontal position on the holding body (10) via stops. An enlarged and reinforced support surface (22, 24) is produced as a stop for supporting on the bearing limb (50, 60) of the carrying handle (48) by removal of material in the groove (16) of the extrusion profile. <IMAGE>
