Abstract (en)

[origin: EP0598187A1] The invention relates to a pulper, particularly for pulping domestic waste or paper; having a preferably cylindrical or angular container (2) with a vertical axis; having a rotor (4), which likewise has a vertical axis, arranged in the upper part of the container; having a coarse waste trap (20) which can be moved into the inner space of the container. The invention is characterised by the following features: a trough (10) for receiving the coarse waste trap (20) is connected to the inner space of the container; the coarse waste trap can be moved out of the trough into the inner space of the container by pivoting it about a horizontal axis. <IMAGE>
